IN SHORT

A FEW WORDS ABOUT ME...

HALLÖCHEN

Hi, I am Jacopo and I am an Italian front-end developer based in Berlin.

After having worked for a few companies in Italy, I decided to tackle the city of Berlin (where I landed in 2014) as I have felt the Web was proliferating here, and I need to get my hands on the Web cause I simply love it.

My runway for taking off was Gamespree, a fairly little game publishing company, for afterwards settling down in Nosto - in the cold February 2015 - where I started as web designer but rapidly moved into Front-end dev position for support, helping the clients to get live with the solution.

In January 2017 I have also started a partner training program which makes me fly here and there in Europe and teach our partners how to get started with the solution from a technical point of view.

I love my job, that's it!

I am a passionate traveler (either for work and for personal leisure) and I also love analog photography - which merries pretty good with traveling. I am not a Tumblr kind of guy, so the pictures I take are jealously kept as negative films (and related prints) in a box I show on demand.

Another thing I love(d) to do was the radio: back in Italy I was presenting (alongside with a friend) a program on a FM radio with rock/punk indie music for two years.

Even tho it was more a passion than a job, I really loved it - especially to interact with people dialing in during the program and chatting with them on-air.

Since when I've learnt to walk, I like to run.
